YEARLY CONTRACTS

Now Demanded by the Cumberland Telephone Company.

Another Turn to the Thumb Screw Put On People of Hopkinsville.

The Cumberland Telephone Company, secure in the protection from competition it enjoys, has applied another onerous rule in its dealings with the people of Hopkinsville.

Several business men have been refused telephone service except on annual contracts and it is rumored that a general order will go out requiring all subscribers to be forced into annual contracts, to guard against any future competition.

Mr. W. C. Doherty, representative of Simmons Hardware Company, who boarded at Mrs. T. R. Hancock's, had a phone in his boarding house. He left the city some time ago and recently Mrs. Hancock notified the telephone people that she wanted the phone kept in her residence. She was confronted with an annual contract, which she could not sign, as her rent contract expires in six months. She offered to pay in advance for six months, but the offer was refused. She then offered to pay one month, until Mr.
Doherty could be communicated with in regard to his plans about returning to this territory, but no concessions would be made and the telephone was taken out, with Mrs.
Hancock begging for the privilege of paying for it in advance.

Mr. J. O. Cook, the druggist, whose business requires a phone in his residence, this week moved from his father's to a rented house and ordered his phone moved to his new residence. He too met a refusal and his phone would not even be moved without an annual contract dating from the present time.
Supervisor Henry, of the L. & N. railroad, ordered a phone in this residence and was likewise refused, since his business arrangements would not permit him to sign a contract for a year.

Mr. B. J. Mathews reports a similar experience and so it goes.

This is the monopoly that enjoys an exclusive privilege in the city, without even having bought the franchise required of other corporations.

Mr. W. C. Binas, the miller at Pee Dee, has been trying for months to get telephone connection. An offer was made that the line would be put in if he would secure a certain number of subscribers and furnish posts at 80 cents each. He agreed to the conditions. Then the posts were demanded at 40 cents.
He complied again. Then the further demand was made that the posts be chestnut, a wood impossible to procure. He still has no telephone and will, it is said, be forced to connect with the Home system at Lafayette and thence with Clarksville, thus driving his business out of Hopkinsville.

Mr. J. C. Hoar reports that he ordered his phone taken out of his residence because of an insult offered to his wife. Her phone was out of order and when she asked the operator to have the trouble investigated, she was told that if she would clean out her ears she could probably hear better.

In the meantime other systems are anxious to enter Hopkinsville whenever they can buy a franchise.

BREAKING ALL RECORDS.

Crescous Tots Over a Half Mile
Track in 2:08 1-4.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 8.—Crescous, the trotting stallion, driven by Geo.
H. Ketcham, his owner, broke all records for a half-mile track this afternoon at the fair grounds, lowering his own best previous time of two weeks ago at Dayton, O., a half second. He covered the mile today in 2:08 1-4. Crescous was accompanied by two runner and an automobile. The time by quarters was 32, 1:04, 1:36 1-4, 2:08 1-4.

WAR UNAVOIDABLE

Between Turkey and Bulgaria
Over Frontier Troubles.

Admiral Cotton Reports Situation at Beirut Improved, But is Ready to Act.

Vienna, Sept. 9.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Die Zeit reports that Turkish troops have been ordered to cross the Bulgarian frontier of Eastern Roumania in order to surround all the bands in the vicinity of Adrianople.

It is rumored from other sources that the Turkish Minister of War is anxious to begin hostilities against Bulgaria, which he regards as no longer avoidable.

Macedonian Memorandum.
Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 9.—The Macedonian organizations are preparing a memorandum to be presented to the representatives of the powers, in which they will declare that the insurgents intend to resort to reprisals for the Turkish atrocities.
The memorandum gives detailed information of villages destroyed and the massacre of their inhabitants. It declares that 65, 000 men, women and children have been slaughtered and 120 villages burned.

The memorandum repeats the statement recently issued by the insurgent General Staff at Monastir that the Turks, instead of fighting the insurgents, have instigated a general massacre of the Christians.
The organizations declare they are issuing the present memorandum because they are no longer able to restrain the bands from retaliation, and henceforth the responsibility will rest with the great powers, which, instead of attempting to moderate the Turkish barbarities, are calling on the Turks speedily to end the revolution.

Cotton Reports All Quiet.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The Navy Department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Cotton, dated Beirut yesterday, saying that there were no serious disturbances in Beirut Monday night. The situation there is improving and public feeling is growing quiet.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Disastrous Freight Wreck Near Dawson Springs.

A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the I. C. one mile west of Dawson Springs, Saturday. The north bound local and a south bound coal train collided, ditching eight cars and badly damaging both engines. The engine of the local freight was completely wrecked. The engineers and firemen, realizing that a collision was inevitable, jumped and were not seriously hurt. The other trainmen also escaped injury. A wrecker was at once sent to the scene of the disaster, but the track were not cleared for several hours.

The loss to the railroad company is pretty heavy.

CRUSHED UNDER ROOF.

Christian County Miner Meets
Horrible Death in Hopkins

Rivers Trammel, colored, of this county, was crushed to death in a coal mine disaster near Madisonville Tuesday. A coal car was derailed, knocking a prop down and allowing the roof to fall upon him.
Charles Hampton and William Holston, two other colored miners at work near Trammel, were also caught under the roof and badly injured. Trammel was eighteen years old and had been at work in the mines for several months.

The remains arrived here Tuesday evening and were taken to the Lafayette neighborhood Wednesday, where they were interred.

PEN FOR RIOTERS.

Twelve of the Fourteen Defendants at Danville Convicted.

Two of the Defendants, Who Turned State's Evidence, Were Permitted to Go Free.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 7.—The main case against the Danville rioters went to the jury at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and a verdict was reached at 11:40. The prisoners were brought into court soon after midnight. Then the verdict was announced.

Twelve of the defendants were convicted. They are: Winfield Baker, William Redwine, Horace Murphy, Isaac Newton Slade, Thomas Bell, John Ison, John Wallen, John Robertson, Adam Myers, Clement Mobaker, L. Meneses and Beane Armstrong, alias Beale Dodge. Two were acquitted. They are: John Kress and Richard Roberts, who turned state's evidence.

The punishment is an intermediate sentence in the penitentiary. State's Attorney Kessler probably will not prosecute at present any of the other prisoners on the felony charge, but expects some of them to plead guilty of riot and take a jail sentence. This case is said to be the first one in Illinois where anyone was sent to the penitentiary for endeavoring to break into a jail.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"B. L. Byer, a well known cooper of this town, says he owes Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer. He had been sick for a month with what the doctors called dysentery, and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief," says B. L. Byer, a merchant, Hancock, Md. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

The New Yellow.

A new shade of the season is amaryllis yellow, a pretty blend between a light canary and a vivid lemon color. The fall is just beginning to come in this exquisite tint, which can be worn by blonde or brunette with equal becomingness.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

Killing at Camp Meeting.

A THIRSTY CRUISE.

The Suffering of a Crew Decried at the Equator.

It may surprise some readers to learn that in the year 1593 Elizabeth's great admiral, Sir Richard Hawkins, known as "the complete seaman," had a distilling apparatus on board his ship, and found the water so distilled to be "wholesome and nourishing." Sailors in the middle of the nineteenth century seldom had such a standby, and often suffered through the lack of it. A former midshipman in the British navy recalls, in an article in Macmillan's Magazine, the suffering endured during a cruise on board H. M. S. Xenophon, in the South seas, 60 years ago.

For 16 days, they remained becalmed within sight of land, drifting to and fro, crossing and recrossing the equator with wearying iteration. The sun stared vertically at us from a steel-blue sky, and even under the double awnings the pitch ran liquid from the seams, so that it clogged our feet as we walked the deck.

In the midst of these surroundings the order was given to reduce the allowance of drinking water to one pint per day for each officer and man. This allowance was served out in one issue at noon, during the men's dinner hour. The meal consisted of salt junk, which had been so long in brine and was so hard, that it would take a handsome polish in skillful hands, or of pork that shriveled in the boiling to little more than hard rind. Of course, the result of such a diet of water was that when dinner was over, not a drop of water remained to the poor fellows for the next 24 hours of burning heat. The few who tried to save some found it impossible, for they had no place in which to secure it from their improvident shipmates.

In this strait the men fell back on vinegar, of which each vessel had a liberal allowance, but in their raging thirst they were not satisfied merely to moisten their mouths with the strong acid; they mixed it with salt water and drank it in large quantities, and the terrible effect may be imagined. The men were fairly knocked over by this horrible mixture, and rolled in agonies in the forecastle.

At last, on May 20, we sighted the anchorage of San Blas, and the order was immediately given to serve out a gallon of water to each man. Discipline was forgotten in the wildest, most joyful confusion as it was issued. And so, 93 days after leaving Callao, our privations came to an end. For the last 33 days of our voyage we had averaged a speed of just one mile an hour, a record for slowness which I scarcely think the annals of sea life could better.

A PICNIC OF ONE.

The Placid Lady Missed the Boat and Didn't Care.

"There's nothing like a placid disposition to get through the world with," remarked a citizen who can't take things easy, says the Detroit Free Press, to save his life. "My wife has a placid disposition and she gets more fun out of existence than anyone I know. Nothing upsets her; whatever goes wrong with her always comes out all right—and better, too."

"The other day, for instance, she started on a picnic—a boat excursion for all day. She was to meet some friends—as I could not go with her—and she expected to have a jolly time. She had a lovely luncheon packed up in a lovely basket; and off she went."

"Well, she got left. These placid people often get left—they take some things too easy; and don't worry about it."

"About five o'clock in the afternoon the lady came home. I had come home early to work in our garden, and was much surprised to see her of course."

"When she found out she was left, she said—she didn't worry a bit. No—she went to a bookstore, bought a new novel she had wanted, got on a street car and rode around town while—my wife loves to study people on the cars—then she went out to one of the parks, where she sat under a lovely tree all day and read her delightful book. All day long, too, she says, she ate out of her lovely basket of luncheon. She didn't see a soul she knew; and had a delightful, quiet, helpful, restful day. When she got thoroughly rested, she came home."

"Wasn't that great? I should have stewed all day because I had missed the boat. Oh, I tell you those placid people enjoy life, no matter what happens."

L. & N.'S MOVE.

To Extend Another Line to the Ohio.

The Big System Will Build Through West Kentucky From Madisonville to Shawnee.

A special from Madisonville says: Information has been given out here on good authority which states that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company will build a new line from that city, Ky., to Shawnee, Ill., which report is also backed by the fact that the company already has a corps of engineers making a survey of the route.

It is said that this move on the part of the Louisville & Nashville is due to the fact that the Illinois Central is getting a strong hold in the territory which this road will pass, and it is some of the richest section of the state, being rich for both agricultural purposes and mining.

The new road is to connect with the company's branch road running from the main line in this city to Providence, which will give them a direct route from here to Shawnee, Ill.

This move will make great competition in the newly discovered coal fields of this section, and will mean much for Western Kentucky.

IN HOPKINSVILLE.

Every Claim is Backed By Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof of the following statement and experience of a resident of Hopkinsville, what can it be?

James A. Tye, brick mason, of 1230 South Virginia street, says: "Disorders of the kidneys brought on in my case so sharp and continual a succession of pains and aches through my back that I could not rest comfortably at night and arose in the morning lame and sore. I was tired and worn out from morning to night. The kidney secretions were irregular, high colored and scalding and deposited a heavy sediment if allowed to stand. I had so energy left and felt generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when my attention was attracted by an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got a box at Thomas & Crabtree's drug store and began using them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance and the pain and aching had been greatly relieved, and by the time I had completed the box there was a wonderful change in my condition. I am glad to state that I am practically cured, and Doan's Kidney Pills will be my friend for life."

CADETS MAY SMOKE.

First Time in 22 Years That Smoking is Allowed at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 7.—West Point Cadets are now permitted to smoke, and for the first time in twenty-two years there will be smoking in the barracks on Sunday. There is high glee among the cadets, who have been compelled to do their smoking on the sly, with the constant fear of detection and punishment if caught. On Friday's parade an order was published announcing that cadets are "permitted tobacco during regular quarters" within the barracks limits. It was also announced that cadets would be permitted to buy tobacco and pipes from the post store. The order came as a complete surprise to everybody at the academy except Colonel Mills, the commandant. It was the result of a recommendation made by Colonel Mills to the Secretary of War a month or more ago. It went into effect on Saturday morning and the effect of the order will be to discourage cigarettes.

What About Taylor.

Governor Durbin of Indiana has written an article for the Independent, referring directly to the rioters. In this article Governor Durbin says: "Either the supremacy of the law must be established beyond question or free reign must be given to the fury of riotous assemblages engage in tramping all law into the dust. Anarchy and constitutional government may not thrive within the same geographical limits."

It would be well if the governor of Indiana could employ some of this spirit in considering the case of ex-Governor Taylor, a fugitive from Kentucky justice and who now finds protection in the state of Indiana by the grace of Governor Durbin.

If the Indiana governor really believes that "the supremacy of the law must be established beyond question," if he is devoted to constitutional government and bitterly antagonistic to anarchy, with what reason does he exercise his authority to prevent the arrest of Taylor, the fugitive from justice, in order that Taylor may not be required to answer for his alleged complicity in the assassination of Governor Goebel?

The governor of Indiana will find it just a bit embarrassing to write the "supremacy of the law" so long as he persists in extending protection to Mr. Taylor.—Com. moner.

A GREAT INVENTION.

Engineer Has Solved the Problem of Sounding the Whistle With His Hand on the Throttle.

Engineer Harry Lammers, who runs the day trains, has about completed a couple of inventions which will work wonders in the railway world and put many thousands of dollars in his pockets. Those familiar with a railroad engine know it requires the use of the driver's right hand and arm to operate the whistle. As he needs the hands for several other purposes, this often proves troublesome, so Lammers put his brain to work to remedy the trouble. The device consists of a set of rods which run from the whistle valve down through the cab to the engineer's foot rest. Here is made a neat device which, by pressing either foot, the whistle valve is opened thereby, by doing away with the hand arrangement and leaving that free to use on his air throttle, or for any other purpose. But his best scheme is this. Railroad men know how stock, and people too, remain on the track until the engine is almost on them. Mr. Lammers has invented a plan which will work wonders in this line. A pipe running from the boiler to the front of the engine is so arranged that by opening a valve a stream of steam is thrown fifty feet straight in front of the locomotive. Should a man or stock stand on the track, this valve can be quickly opened and the hot steam thrown in such a great volume that he will move off and move quickly, too. This arrangement will save many lives; and work wonders on the old bony horses and cattle which are placed on the right of way to be killed, the owner secure the much sought opportunity of suing the company, a "pastime" so much indulged in by some people who seem to think railroad companies owe them a living.—Lancaster Record.

Story of an Egg.

If a fertile egg has been incubating for even twenty-four hours, a small speck is visible, but it is not discernible in thick or dark-shelled eggs; but if the egg were broken open, it would be perceived that the vesicle had enlarged, and radiating from it would be a number of minute blood vessels.

On the third day these blood vessels will have completely surrounded the yolk, and the small dark spot in the center will be developed into the eye or brain. The brain is the first part to take definite form.

On or about the fourth day a respiratory membrane is formed, and the egg gradually increased in opacity until after the seventh day it is not practicable to form any judgment of the progress of the chick by means of light.

By the tenth day the bones of the skeleton have begun to assume consistency, the internal organs have a decided shape, and the heart is formed, and all vital parts are complete. On certain parts feathers are growing and all development from hence is rapidly carried on.

On the twelfth day heat is given out, and this is easily demonstrated to those who use incubators, as less heat is required to keep up the temperature, and it is generally necessary to move back the weight.

The chick reaches its perfect form on the fifteenth day, and from thence grows in size until, on the nineteenth day, respiration through the lungs takes place.

Up to within a few hours of the exit of the chick from the shell, the egg bag lies outside the bird. Immediately before hatching it is absorbed into the intestines, and forms sufficient sustenance for the chick for twenty-four hours. Therefore, people should avoid attempting to cram the little birds until this time has passed, when, if they are healthy, they will help themselves readily enough.

If all has gone well the eggs will begin to chip not later than the twentieth day, and the chick leaves the shell unsisted in from twelve to eighteen hours after the first appearance of the bill.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

Eggs Not Laid by Hens.

Science, prompted and urged by the commercial instinct, has demonstrated that casein, from ordinary cows' milk, is quite as good for baking as the finest hen's egg, and a company with $6,500,000 capital has been formed to manufacture out of it a substitute for the "fresh" and "strictly fresh" product of the poultry yard. One pound of casein is equal to six dozen eggs. August Belmont is a large stockholder in this corporation, which already, though only an infant, puts out about 1,200 pounds a day, the equivalent of 89,400 eggs. The hen's only remaining advantage lies in the unhatchableness of the rival product and its incasement in a box instead of a shell. She alone can be the mother of broods and flocks of chickens. Casein cannot deprive her of that cherished privilege. The artificial egg has arrived, but not the artificial broiler, fowl, capon, roaster, etc.—New York Press.

"Too many people make the skin do the work that the bowels and kidneys should do. A bilious, constipated condition means a yellow skin, lusterless eyes, foul breath, and a general woe on feeling. TRAPPED ON A LEDGE.

Explorer in the Canyon of the Colorado in the Three Peaks.

A member of a party sent out by the Smithsonian institution in the early eighties to explore the canyon of the Colorado, recalls an experience the memory of which, he assures his friends, still makes his hair tingle at the roots. This is his story, according to the Youth's Companion.

I had left the party for an all-day exploration on my own account, and at four o'clock in the afternoon I was working gingerly along a ledge which projected from the wall of the canyon. It was a dizzy spot, with the rocky walls running straight down to the river bed.

I came at last to a break in the ledge—a sort of vertical split in the wall of the canyon. It was about five feet across, and a tree grew on the other side, rooted hard and fast among the crannies. "Lucky thing," said I to myself, "that the tree is here," and grasping a branch that stuck out in my direction, I swung myself to the ledge on the other side of the gap.

Well, I started all right, but inside of two minutes I came to the end of the ledge. There was nothing to do but go back, and back I went. When I got to the gap once more, I felt just the way an animal must feel when it is caught in a box-trap.

The tree by which I had swung myself across was now on my side of the ledge, and furnished me no more help in getting back than if it hadn't been there.

I knew that no human help would ever reach me, so I just had to cling to the rough wall and try to make up my mind to jump across from one narrow ledge to the other, right across an open space with a drop of 400 feet and nothing but rocks below me.

A hundred times I had my mind all made up, but every time I looked down into the canyon my courage failed.

It was nearly dark before I jumped. I can remember even now how my nails scraped across the rocks when I attempted to retain a foothold on the other side. My feet were all alive with tingling nerves as they slipped over the gravel on the ledge, but when I found that I was standing safely on the other side, I felt warm all over at first, and then, although it was a hot day, I had a real chill, and shook as if I had the ague.

MEDITATION ON GOLF.

Game Has Taken a Deep Hold on Players for Pleasure.

A general survey of the game of golf during the past year seems to establish a fact very comforting to those who followed it and tasted its pleasures before its great burst into popularity in the early nineties. Not only has it succeeded in keeping clear of the debasing element of gate money, to which cricket and football are being surrendered ever more and more, but it has taken a deeper hold of the ordinary player who follows it for physical benefit and recreation. At first the character of the game seemed likely to be seriously altered for the worse in England under the accumulation of medal competitions, bogey competitions, driving contests, club matches, county cups and all the drossy pot-rewarded struggles of modern athletics. But as time went on and the charm of golf as golf without the extrinsic excitement of pots and cups had time to work in men's minds, so organized competitions attracted ever less attention, until today we find the proposed county team contests hanging fire, and even club matches languishing. The truest delights of golf are known only to the busy man, says Blackwood's Magazine.

When the fading of youth has shut out cricket, football and even lawn tennis, the fair weather game—forever from his possibilities, he begins to recognize the profound virtue of golf. That there is a more youthful, more forceful, more skillful golf than his, he is well aware. But he need not bother his head about it. Sufficient unto him the struggle with a friend, the exercise in the open air and the constant and keen play of human nature under successes or distresses intense enough while the game lasts, but subjects of banter and amusement when it is done. How rarely to be seen now is any specimen of those first victims of a mistaken zeal for the game who carefully recorded their scores in match play. The book and pencil are now regarded as the signs of the beginner, the dufler of the man who ought not to play golf.

MICAEA DE LOS ANGELES.

Story of Spanish Girl Who Lived in Mexican Convent.

The story of this young Spanish girl in Mexico, who lived a mysterious life in a convent, may be truly called a legend of history, says Modern Mexico. Micaela de los Angeles was believed to be a daughter of Philip II, of Spain, who was brought to Mexico and immured in the royal convent of Jesus Maria for reasons best known to the royal father. This convent was founded in 1578 by two Spaniards, Pedro T. Denia and Gregorio de Pesquera, purposely for the descendants of the conquerors. It was placed under the rule of Franciscan nuns, and jealously guarded. None but daughters of aristocrats and noble and royal houses were admitted. Just when the Nina Micaela entered the convent no one seemed to remember, her presence at first being scarcely noticed by any, but the mother superior. She was plainly dressed and kept in great seclusion for a time, but by and by it was observed that she was gradually being surrounded with royal luxuries. This fact naturally incited inquiry, and with curiosity on one hand and knowledge, even in the minds of a few of the other nuns, was soon known that Micaela was a direct descendant of the king and that her brother, Archbishop Pedro de Contreras, had special care over her. For a long time it was thought that Micaela had been brought to the convent while a very small child, but her increasing unhappiness and longing for scenes of which the nuns knew nothing convinced them that she had been rudely torn away from all that her affections held dear, or that she had been falsely lured to her imprisonment in a foreign land. The walls of the old convent of Mexico were very high and thick, and a nun once behind them, and protected also by the solemn oaths that she and all about her must take, was a nun for life—and yet even those walls had ears, and there were eyes that saw and tongues that told tales. It was always so. Even Alward and Holaise shared from each other at times.

Whether Micaela's lover was a priest or not neither records nor traditions tell us, only that she had one. Perhaps he followed her over seas. Perhaps it was to part her from him that she was sent to Mexico to the royal convent. Perhaps the parting had the usual result of strengthening the ties of love and making the lover more determined. Who knows? Alas, no more in Mexico. But that does not matter. Micaela was unhappy, and she had a lover who would have taken her from the convent if he could. That is enough to stir the heart.

One night the convent was attacked, whether by Indians or robbers or heretics it could not be discovered in the darkness, for Mexico had no street lights in those early days. But by whomsoever, the attack was repulsed, the doors doubly barred and guarded, and on one entered and none escaped.

After that those who passed by the royal convent frequently heard sad moanings and demoniacal laughter, and loud calls, repeated and repeated, until the voice seemed to die away in the distance, or to be shut off by many walls and closing doors—at times even by the sudden placing of a strong hand over the mouth of the maniac. When the mad nun of the royal convent died it was known that Micaela de los Angeles, the daughter of Philip II, of Spain, was free and many secretly prayed that she had joined her lover in Heaven.

A Fainting Room.

One of the latest ideas in New York is a room in which ladies can retire if they feel faint and go off in a swoon, amid the most artistic and beautiful surroundings. Several restaurants and tea-shops have adopted this idea, and members of the fair sex whose nerve force is run down can find in the fainting-room a soothing resting place. The room is partially darkened and the prevailing color green, whilst it is liberally decorated with various sweet-smelling flowers. Comfortable sofas and chairs are provided for the "fainters," and a lady doctor is kept on the premises should her services be required.

Singular Coincidence.

A remarkable coincidence occurred at an inquest on the body of a woman at the London hospital recently. Three of the jurymen were named Bird; the foreman selected was Mr. Peacock; a fifth was called Caige; and another was Mr. Perch.

Year's Work With 100 Hens

Having been very much interested in the reports of amateur poultrymen that have appeared from time to time in Farm Poultry, I thought possibly a few figures from my little flock would not come amiss in demonstrating to the skeptical that there is money in poultry.

Six years ago I started in with poultry on a small scale, beginning with ten hens and one cockerel, B. P. Rocks, increasing as funds and experience would permit, and have been able each year to show a handsome profit on the right side of the account.

For the past year, which ended May 1st, I will give you a few figures from strict account which has been kept of a flock of 100 hens, Barred P. Rocks and R. I. Reds. I raised 500 chickens, sold part of them at broiler age, and the rest when five or six months old, keeping 30 or 40 pullets in making up stock for my own use. From the 100 hens I received 659 10-12 dozen eggs, which I sold at the average price a dozen of 35 cents, making the amount

Received for eggs	$239.07
Received for dressed and live poultry,	228.90
	$467.97

The amount being about equally divided. Deducting the amt. paid for feed for the year, $180.26

Leaves net,	$287.71
Crediting each hen her share, would make $2.87 1/2c.

Considering that this amount of business was carried on in a small back yard lot of not more than one-half to three-quarters of an acre, I think it shows that with larger acreage one might be able to do nearly as well. The dressed poultry and eggs were sold direct to consumers, thereby enabling me to realize better profits than to sell to commission men, and this is one way to make poultry pay. I used two 120-egg Cyphers incubators for hatching the chickens, and brood them in Champion brooders, which early in the season are indoors, and later are moved into the lot.—W. S. Ide, in Farm Poultry.

Stomach Trouble.

"I have been troubled with my stomach for the past four years," says D. L. Leach, of Glover, New York. "I was at the Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I used two 120-egg Cyphers incubators for hatching the chickens, and brood them in Champion brooders, which early in the season are indoors, and later are moved into the lot.—W. S. Ide, in Farm Poultry."

War Inevitable.

War between Turkey and Bulgaria is regarded at Constantinople as inevitable.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any, relief, when a neighbor, learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by C. W. Wyly.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is perfectly closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Twelve white persons, one of them a woman, who participated in the mob at Danville, Ill., last spring, in the effort to lynch a negro, have been convicted of rioting and sent to the Joliet penitentiary on the evidence of two men who turned State's evidence to save themselves. That this sort of prosecution will not stop mob law is shown by the fact that the very day the Danville men were taken to the penitentiary a negro murderer was saved from a mob in Chicago only by the most vigorous efforts of the police. A few more such verdicts and a general race war will be among the possibilities.

Some of the Democratic papers are complaining bitterly because the Republicans met recently at Lexington and arranged for a bigger campaign fund than we have. Killed a White Man.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Because he was accused of stealing chickens, John Brinkley, col., shot and killed John McCarthy last night, and was himself severely beaten by a crowd of McCarthy's neighbors, and only escaped the rope by the combined efforts of four policemen with drawn revolvers. Brinkley shot McCarthy almost in front of the latter's own door, and he expired as his wife stepped to the door to call him to supper.

Damage Suits.

It would seem from the verdicts rendered by the jurors of the court which adjourned last week that the people at large are becoming a little more liberal in their dealings with corporations. The two weeks' special term of court was for the purpose of trying damage cases that were pending against individuals and corporations. In the past it had seemed that about all that was necessary to obtain a judgment against a corporation, was to bring suit, name the amount of damages wanted and juries were ready to render a verdict accordingly. The jury of the special term of court was conservative and gave verdicts for the plaintiffs only when damages were justified. There were four suits against the Keiscke Mining Co., aggregating $7,998 and verdicts for only $400 each. Two damage cases tried against the L. & N. railroad for $16,000 resulted in verdicts of $515. Three cases against the L. C. railroad for $6,000 resulted in verdicts of $1,600 damage. There were four individual suits against individuals in which the sum of $10,170.40 was demanded. Judgment was rendered for the sum of $235. There were five cases against the city of Madisonville amounting to $8,900, while the claimants got judgment for only $505. We hope the time has passed in the history of our county or our country when judgments are to be rendered against towns and other corporations for every little frivolous excuse. Madisonville has suffered and very unjustly in the past on account of heavy damages being awarded where none should have been given.

We feel that the time has come when there should be a campaign of education against the rule that has applied in the past of giving unjust verdicts to plaintiffs, simply for the reason that the defendants are rich, or are corporations. We know very well that in taking the position that we now take and have taken, that we lay ourselves open to criticism by those who regard it as popular to denounce corporations. We are not a corporation, and we say as we have said in the past, that no corporation has ever as yet detained a single line of our writing, nor have we ever received a cent from any of these concerns for what we have said, nor do we ever expect to receive anything of value, perhaps not even their thanks, for what we may say or do. We write from what we believe to be proper standpoint and ask that every one who goes into court, whether it be white or black, corporation or individual, shall have the same equal justice meted out to him or them with no favors shown to any one. We aver here that all suits brought against corporations are not without merit. Many of them are meritorious and heavy damages should be awarded. Where damages are just and due, whether from individuals, towns, or corporations, then let the damages be such as will at least be adequate to the injury done. Justice wrongs no one.—Madisonville Graphic.

LIVE STOCK INTERESTS

Will He Well Taken Care of at the St. Louis Exposition.

Chief F. D. Coburn, of the live stock department of the World's Fair, has been invited by Chairman L. D. Dorsey, of the Live stock committee of the Kentucky Exhibit Association, to appear before his committee and other noted stockmen of the State at the State Fair in Owensboro the week of Sept. 21-26, in the interest of Kentucky's display of live stock at the exposition. Mr. Coburn has promised to be present if possible. He says the State Fair will provide an exceptional occasion for increasing the interest of the breeders of Kentucky in the World's Fair.

Kentucky's breeders of live stock have already placed application for over 300 stalls at the World's Fair for use during the big live stock shows. Horses, mules and jacks will be shown the last week of August and the first of September; cattle from September 12 to September 28; hogs and sheep from Oct. 3 to Oct. 17; poultry and dogs the last week in October and the first week in December.

Superintendent Geo. E. Vaughn, of Webster county schools, has applied for space for an educational exhibit at the World's Fair from his county.

Prof. McHenry Rhoads, superintendent of the Owensboro city schools, writes to the Kentucky exhibit association, that it is his purpose to get up a complete display covering entire field of education at work in Davies' capital for the Kentucky exhibit at the exposition.

The Henderson schools will probably have a fine exhibit in the Kentucky educational display at the World's Fair. Superintendent Livingston McCartney is working hard to have a creditable display from his county.

Some prize-winning views are to be furnished the Kentucky Exhibit Association by J. Louis Kowsey, of Vanceburg. He has a freak picture made at a fishing camp which has attracted much notice and is to be included in the list.

The Kentucky Exhibit Association is collecting hundreds of photographs for display in the Kentucky Building and in the exhibits of the State's products and resources at the World's Fair. It is working on the idea that nothing is more attractive than good pictures and that Kentucky is able to furnish some of the best. Photographers all over the State are becoming interested in this feature of the Association's work.

The first educational exhibit to reach the Kentucky Exhibit Association for its display at the St. Louis exposition next year came from Breathitt county. It was collected by Prof. Forest T. Moss and sent in from Jackson.

The Louisville schools are to try themselves on their educational exhibit at the World's Fair. Every phase of school life is to be shown—high school, manual training, kindergarten, night school, blind institute work, etc., etc.

A Portland, Ore., concern is making preparations to open a big coal mine at Bartles, Ky., five miles off the Ill. Central Railroad. This concern has purchased large tracts of land in that section, and expect to spend much money in developing same.

In Memory of Little Nellie.

Death once more has visited this community and taken from this earth of shadow to his heavenly home little Nellie Harrison, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison. Nellie was born April 21, 1892, and died Aug. 27, 1903. Her life though short was full of deeds of kindness, always so thoughtful of others and self denying, she blossomed here on earth for a short time, but God seeing the fairness of this flower transplanted it to make the beauty of His heavenly garden more rare. How true the Scriptures, "As for man his days are as grass, as a flower of the field so he perisheth, but the wind passeth over it and it is gone." But Nellie's influence in her home, as "Footprints upon the sands of time," shall live. She took a great interest in Sunday school work, being a member of Mrs. Major's class. Grieve not, dear mother, the Good Shepherd gathers his little ones home, for of such is the kingdom of heaven, and Nellie is safe in the arms of Jesus. All suffering, all sorrow past. There no parting words shall ever be spoken in that bright land of flowers, but songs of joy, and peace and gladness shall ever more be hers.

The Rev. Dr. George Waverly Briggs, formerly of Paducah, has brought suit against the Louisville Railway Company for $10,000 damages for alleged injuries received by falling from a street car on Twenty-seventh street in March. The plaintiff claims that a banana peeling lying on the platform of the car was the direct cause of this injury. His arm was broken and he was otherwise injured.

BUILDING NOTES.

Many New Dwelling Houses in City and County.

Mr. M. C. Forbes Will Erect Elegant Residence on South Main Street.

Hopkinsville has been enjoying a building boom all of this year and many new buildings are still being projected.

In addition to the repairs on the court house, the Phoenix Hotel building and other business houses, several fine residences are just being finished.

One of these is that of Mr. T. T. Thomas, on South Virginia street, in the Crenshaw addition. It contains ten rooms, is a modern two-story frame, with hardwood finish on first floor, cabinet mantels, tile hearths and facings and all modern conveniences. The cost was about $3,500 and Mrs. T. Thomas and the family of Mr. W. E. Trahern will occupy it.

One of the handsomest residences in the city will be that of Mrs. Kate West, on Sixteenth street. It is a house of many rooms, with cellar, two full stories and a half story above. It has steam heat, hardwood finish, cabinet mantels and all improvements. It was designed by J. L. Long and erected by the Forbes Company. The price was about $8,000.

Mr. John H. Bell, Jr., is preparing to erect on the Mills lot, on East Seventh street, a fine residence, with modern advantages. It will be of two-stories, cabinet mantels, hardwood finish and colonial style front. The contract has not been let as yet.

Perhaps the finest dwelling house in the city will be that to be shortly put up by Mr. M. C. Forbes on the John P. Campbell lot, corner of South Main and Fourteenth streets. It will be all that could be desired in a comfortable home, and the cost will probably reach $15,000. The plans have not been completed, but work will begin this fall.

Messrs. Dick Anderson and Henry Hurt have completed two nice little cottages on West Seventh street, near Cleveland avenue, at a cost of about $1200 each. They are on adjoining lots. Mr. Hurt has moved into his and Mr. Anderson this week sold his to Mr. Harry Keach, who has moved into it.

Mr. W. H. Moore has bought a lot on South Virginia street from John P. Prowse and let the contract for the erection of a $3,000 residence of eight rooms. It will be built at once by the Forbes Company.

Mr. J. A. Wallace is remodeling and improving his cottage on Eighteenth street.

Dr. F. P. Thomas is preparing to erect a handsome new house on the Buckner lot on South Main street next spring.

Two new cottages are being completed on South Virginia street by Mrs. Graves. One of them on completion will be occupied by Mrs. Ellis.

Mr. T. J. Vowell is putting up a new business house on West Seventh street, corner of Cleveland avenue. He will move his business from the "Rialto Row," just west of the stone bridge.

Out in the county, on the Calvin Layne place, Mr. J. P. Meyers, the present owner, has just finished one of the finest country homes in the county. It is two-stories high, contains fifteen rooms and is built in Colonial style. It has cabinet mantels, tile hearths, hardwood

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

Mr. Hal P. Denton, Chief Department of Publicity and Promotion of National Export Exposition, writes:

Philadelphia, Dec. 20, 1899. The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O. Gentlemen:—Toward the latter part of August I found myself in a very much run-down condition. I suffered particularly from catarrh of the stomach, aggravated not only by the responsibilities and work incident to the exploitation of a great international exposition. What I ate distressed me and I would lie awake at night 'tossing over,' if I may use that expression, the affairs of the previous day.

"My family physician said I had nervous prostration and recommended a sea voyage. I gradually grew worse. A kind friend whom I had known in Ohio recommended Peruna. Though skeptical, I finally yielded to his advice. After using one bottle I was much improved and with the fifth bottle came complete recovery. I am in perfect health to-day and owe everything to Peruna."

Very truly yours,

HAL P. DENTON.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

An Indignant Editor.

A young man at Conova, Ill., recently took his sweetheart for a ride. It is recorded that she fell out of the buggy, while her lover drove two miles before he discovered that she was missing. When this announcement was made to the public, the editor of the Hartford (Ala.) Times became of righteous indignation, and wrote: "When we were a young lover, the hind wheel might come off, the spring break or the horse fall out of the shafts with our knowledge, but the girl was always safely anchored."

SURPRISED THE NATIVES.

Fishermen Get Big String of Trout Where Honeys Were Expected.

All Cross's Mills has been fishing in Cold brook for the last ten days, says the New York Times. Nobody ever fished there before within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, but ten days ago Joel White, who has a cottage on Charleston beach, came down from Providence and started to fish in the stream.

For Cold brook is only about 200 yards long and its greatest width is about four feet. It runs out of the mill pond under the Post road and through a meadow into the salt pond. Nobody ever heard of anything but smelts and eel being caught in Cold brook. Consequently when Joel White came down the Post road with a light bamboo rod and a can of anglo-saxons and dropped his hook into Cold brook there were a few remarks not calculated to inspire the angler with brotherly love toward the critic.

But Joel White only grinned and kept on fishing. He's been coming to Charlestown beach for a good many years, and is reckoned as one of the townspeople. Therefore all felt perfectly free to speak their minds regarding his piscatorial doings.

John Green came down the road from the post office just as White let down the hook for the first time.

"What ye fishin' for, Joel?" he asked.

"I'm fishing for anything that'll bite," replied White. "Didn't know there might be a trout or so in the brook—water's good and cold."

"Yep," admitted Greene, "water's good 'n' cold in the body fountain up to Hossie's store, but I don't know 't I find many trout there. I don't know—gosh! you got a strike, sure 'nough!"

A strike it was, albeit a gentle one, and in a few seconds White landed a trout that would weigh possibly a quarter of a pound.

"How about it?" he queried, with a grin. "What's that you were saying about fishing in a soda fountain?"

White fished the 200 yards of Cold brook in an hour and a half and he got the most amazing string of trout caught in the town in 30 years.

There were only 12 of them, but they weighed over 15 pounds. The largest one balanced the scales at two and three-quarter pounds, and the rest ran all the way down to a quarter of a pound.

White took the string up to Providence, where he had his pictures taken with his own. Afterward there was a royal fish dinner at the University club.

That's why all Cross's Mills has been fishing in Cold brook for the last ten days. Half a dozen good ones were caught after Joel White's exploit, one of them about the size of his largest. There are various theories as to how the fish got into Cold brook. That most generally accepted holds that they must have come from Kenyon's pond. James Kenyon, a Providence lumber merchant, stocked his artificial pond two or three years ago, and it is thought the trout must have come through his dam into the salt pond, through the salt water, and up Cold brook. This theory gains weight from the fact that Kenyon's pond was fished recently with practically no results.

Another party holds that trout will not enter salt water under any circumstances. However that may be, Joel White's catch is the wonder of the season in Cross's Mills.

Windfall for a Shoeblick.

A Hoxton shoeblick visited a barbershop, and while there heard a customer read an advertisement offering a reward for information as to his whereabouts. On hearing his name read out as heir to a fortune of $30,000 the shoeblick jumped up and exclaimed: "Hurry up; that's me. I'm off." Plunging down a few pence he put on his hat and went out. The people in the shop regarded him as insane. He walked all the way to the town where the shoeblick had advertised for the missing man. In practice, his own means to pay the fare being insufficient. It seems that the estate to which he has succeeded belonged to his uncle, who died intestate. It has since been valued at $30,000—London Tit-Bits.

The King's Paw.

In the private chapel at Windsor castle, which is octagonal in shape, with a lantern roof, the king's paw is in the gallery, in the division next to the organ-loft. The household sits below, the women on one side and the men on the other. There is a chair of three men and two boys, drawn from St. George's chapel.

NEW EPOCH IN SCIENCE.

May Result from Discovery of Radium, Thorium and Uranium.

The recent epoch-making discoveries in science are being rapidly developed. Investigation by M. Curie, the French physicist, Sir W. Thomson, Prof. Rutherford, Prof. Sir William Crookes, and Prof. Sir Oliver Lodge have carried us entirely into an unknown region of physics and chemistry where all analogies fail and all accepted views of the nature of matter offer no assistance.

A study of the radioactivity of the three new elements, radium, thorium and uranium, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, shows that three kinds of rays are emitted. One kind consists of radially projected atoms of matter which are thrown into space at the tremendous speed of 30,000 miles per second. These particles emitted by radium are 1,000 times more massive than the negative electrons, which are also thrown off at a similar speed, and which have long been known under the name of radiant matter. They are positively instead of negatively charged, and moving faster than the fastest flying star, are the most rapid moving matter known.

This property of radioactivity has placed a new weapon in the hands of the chemical analyst as superior in delicacy to the existing methods as those of spectroscopy were when introduced 40 years ago. Matter in quantities invisible under the microscope, unweighable and beyond the detection even of the spectroscopy may now be quantitatively investigated. Every experiment yet made bears out the theory of the disintegration of the original elements into new elements.

As an explanation of this newly discovered quality of radioactivity it is found that the process continues without reference to any interference by ordinary physical or chemical forces. The transmutation of elements is still beyond the power of the chemist, yet it is conclusively proved to be proceeding spontaneously throughout the universe. If science should one day learn how to control or influence this process the power which would accrue to man would be something beyond the capacity of the imagination to conceive.

RECENT NAVAL OFFICER.

Veterans Recall Curly Notes Written by Captain "Mad Jack" Percival.

Naval officers, especially the "oldsters," those who have passed to the three score and ten limit, are wont to indulge in galleys when they get together in the rooms of the New York Yacht club, where so many of them are "honorary" members, or at the Army or Navy club. There was a little quartette of this sort at the latter club a few evenings ago, says the New York Tribune, and among their "yarns" was one about Capt. Percival, or "Mad Jack," as he was familiarly called, for he was one of the characters of the old navy, and many are the anecdotes that could be told of him. He was considered eccentric, and his reports as well as his private letters were concise and epigrammatic.

On one occasion the son of an old friend was appointed a midshipman, and as there was no naval academy in those days as there is now at Annapolis, the lad was drafted to Percival's ship. The father wrote at once to his friend to announce the fact that his son was on shipboard, and after the usual courtesies he closed his letter with: "My son has entered upon a profession where he will go down to his grave wet, honored and sung; or unwet, unhonored and unsung." Capt. Percival, while eccentric was irascible, and the young midshipman had not been on board long before he aroused the wrath of his commander, who at once sat down and wrote to the lad's father: "Dear Sir—Your son is going down to the grave unwet, unhonored and unsung."

At another time, when a member of the board for the examination of candidates for midshipman's warrants, a son of another friend came before the board, and after the examination, Percival, wishing to announce the result to the boy's father, wrote in this wise: "Dear Old Messmate: Your son has passed. Do you recollect our taking the Columbus out of dock? She just grazed."

Eggs at $3.600 a Dozen.

At Raleigh, N. C., three thousand six hundred dollars a dozen for eggs, and one ones at that, is what the Hon. Henry F. Seawell recovered in his suit against the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co. The supreme court has handed down a decision affirming the judgment of the lower court which gave Mr. Seawell $4,500 for being bespattered with eggs by a mob of his political opponents in the campaign of 1900, while on the premises of the railroad company.

In 1900, when political strife was intense, Mr. Seawell, a member of the Carthage bar, was a Populist candidate for attorney general. He had an engagement to speak to the people of Shelby, the county seat of Cleveland.

When he arrived at Shelby he was welcomed upon by a delegation of citizens, his political opponents, who told him that the people of Shelby did not desire to listen to his eloquence. After deliberation, Mr. Seawell decided to take the advice of the delegation and not fill his engagement at that time. In making known the fact that he was not going to speak he uttered some remarks not complimentary to the people of Shelby.

While with a mileage book in his pocket he was awaiting the train at the station, and between the arrival and the departure of the train, a mob composed of his political opponents pelted Mr. Seawell with eggs. The station agent of the railroad company aided and abetted the mob, and fifteen eggs struck Mr. Seawell. In affirming the judgment against the railroad company in Mr. Seawell's favor, the supreme court held that a common carrier or its agent is not only bound not to assault and maltreat an intended passenger, but after he has gone upon the premises of the common carrier, it has to protect him from the offer of indignity, assault and battery.—N. A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

WAGNER AS A HUMORIST.

How He Complied with the Suggestion of a London Newspaper.

Richard Wagner was not a man to whom one would naturally ascribe the faculty of ready joking. It is not from the creator of the serious, somber "Flying Dutchman" or the composer of the half mystical, half religious opera "Parsifal," that one would expect cheerful pranks at the expense of the other people. Nevertheless, says Collier's Weekly, an instance is on record of how the great tone-painter of Bayreuth played a very funny trick on a newspaper and probably a good many of the readers accustomed to relying on what it said. It was in the fifties, Wagner, then still climbing the ladder of fame, was conducting the Philharmonic concert in the British metropolis for a season. Being, as he remained to the end, a very ardent admirer of Beethoven, and in fact knowing that master's nine symphonies by heart, he selected several of them for performance in the said series of concerts.

The first time, then, that Wagner conducted a Beethoven symphony in London, the public received the rendition kindly enough, but the next morning a certain newspaper with a very large circulation came out with a rather severe criticism. The author of "Lobengrin" was in cold print, but in unreserved terms, scolded for directing a symphony by the immortal Beethoven without a score in front of him. Such a proceeding, to which London was unaccustomed, was sheer presumption, so ran the criticism. And after further uncomplimentary remarks the great and influential journal advised young Herr Wagner to use a score when he conducted a Beethoven symphony again. Well, soon Herr Wagner did, this time with a book of music open before him on his desk. He was seen to turn over the leaves with a certain amount of regularity, too. His reward came, the next day, in the form of a commendatory article in the aforesaid newspaper, which praised him for a very much better interpretation of Beethoven than his last, due, of course, to the suggested use of the score. Whereupon Wagner (we think our pun is justified in this particular instance) announced the fact that the score in front of him the previous evening was that of Rossini's opera, "The Barber of Seville"—turned upside down.

PURSUIT OF THE APPENDIX.

Is the Surgical Spot to Be Interfered With?

Dr. John Henry Carsten's argument to the state medical society against the indiscriminate removal of the vermiform appendix appears long time ago. All his songs live a long time. The one in question is said to be over 100 years old. While after I had left the little fellow the melody came to me again: "Chawfish ain't got no show; Frenchman ketch 'em an' make gumbo—bo, ho."

"I looked back. The boy was going across the field."

THE CRAWFISHER'S SONG.

Sitt, Sweet, Rhythmic Bit of Melody Heard in Louisiana.

"Did you ever hear a crawfisher's song?" asked a man with an ear for music, of a writer for the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Well, I have, and during a stroll over a narrow strip of wooded land which separates two plantations out in one of the Louisiana parishes a most peculiar melody floated to my ears, and though it was short, it caught my attention immediately. It was sweet, soft, rhythmic. It had an exceedingly melodious strain, was sung by a wonderfully melodious voice, and seemed to be arranged according to the laws of tone. I was amazed by the sweetness of it—hypnotized and held. It seemed to have rippled from some spot not far away, and was just gurgling from the lips of the earth. I peeped through the weeds and trees about me, but saw no one, yet the sound had seemed to come from an open stretch on one side of the thicket. This puzzled me. Was the vocalist hidden? And had he sung to embarrass me? If so, why didn't he sing again? The voice was so well modulated, every note of the unseen enchanter had sung unconsciously. There seemed to be an air of careless independence about it. Presently it rippled out again: "Crawfish ain't got no show; Frenchman ketch 'em an' make gumbo—bo, ho."

"This bit of inoffensive ridicule, which is familiar to almost every one who has lived in southern Louisiana for any length of time, arrested my attention again, but the humorous side of it went also into insignificance that won my attention. I walked out of the woods and made for the place where I supposed the sound originated. I was in an open field, but could see no one. 'This is a great mystery,' said I to myself. Then I went to a slight elevation near a canal so I could get a better view of the surrounding country, but no sooner had I reached the top of the little hill than I noticed a boy seated near the edge of the water down in the canal. He did not see me, the top of a small tree, which he sat at, most hiding me from him. He was in knee trousers, wore a wide-brimmed hat, was barefooted, and looked intently at several crawfish lines which he had set. Directly he sang the little song again. He sang with the same melodious strain. After a conversation with him about crawfishes and so forth, I left him and wondered whether the melodies of crawfishes boys were results of temporary inspiration or of deliberate composition. All his songs live a long time. The one in question is said to be over 100 years old. While after I had left the little fellow the melody came to me again: "Chawfish ain't got no show; Frenchman ketch 'em an' make gumbo—bo, ho."

THE DEMOCRATIC AUTO.

Washerwoman Came to Her Work in a Horseless Carriage.

"I had a very interesting experience, as the result of placing an advertisement in the paper," said a woman who lives in the northern part of the city, according to the Detroit Free Press. "I wanted a washerwoman, but I was not prepared to get the kind that it was my fortune to engage."

"The morning that the advertisement appeared, an automobile stopped in front of the house, and a woman stepped from it and rung our bell. She informed the maid that she wished to see me, and when I entered the parlor, she said that she had called in response to my advertisement."

"Having the automobile in mind, I did not quite understand. I acknowledged that I wished to hire a washerwoman, but it did not seem right for me to presume that this woman, who arrived in an auto, was willing to work by the day. But to my great surprise, she announced that she was applying for the work for herself. It was a new experience for me to employ a washerwoman who rode around in a vehicle that is supposed to be only for the rich."

"I learned that her son is of a mechanical turn, and that he built the machine himself. It is a very fair one, present a decent appearance and makes reasonably good time. The woman uses it to run around in to look up advertisements, without any idea of putting on airs, and she proved to be a very capable washerwoman. I hire her regularly now, and I am recommending her to my friends."

Live With Your Work.

We all know men and women who are engaged in some business with which they are dissatisfied. They are there simply the "victims" of circumstances. They are the people who have "missed their calling," and are consequently plodding through life—a failure.

Sometimes men and women try to raise poultry, even going to the length of expending great sums of money in buying stock and appliances, who really have no love for the work, being carried into it by a fit of momentary enthusiasm. The result is the same—failure.

One of the most noted lawyers of New York, a millionaire many times over, begins his work before most of us breakfast, and continues it far into the night. His work is to him as his very life. Thomas Edison almost lives in his laboratory. The men who are known as the leaders in the financial world, the heads of the great manufacturing concerns, our eminent editors, lawyers, preachers, writers and thinkers, practically work all the time, and their brains are continually reaching out for a new idea. These are the men who work with their work for the work's sake. Their work is part and parcel of themselves. And these are the men who are moving the world today.

The men and women who are making the greatest success of poultry business are they who might it be said practically live in their poultry yards. They are in the poultry business because they are made that way. It is not a question with them how little they can do and yet make a success, but simply how they can best do the work in hand. By working hand in hand with nature, shirking nothing, overlooking nothing, they are rewarded with the fruits of their efforts.

Of the men and women of our acquaintance who have made a success raising poultry not a single one is there among them but who has earned it by hard and faithful work among his fowls.

They are continually on the lookout for a new idea in mating, breeding, or feeding. They are those who prepare for storms when others think not of them.

Late at night they may be seen gliding out among their coops when the frightened cry of the chicks warn their ears of the presence of some midnight marauder. In the middle of the most severe storms they will be found making more secure some mother and her brood, or taking a precautionary peep at a houseful of young fry. In season and out of season they are always on the move. And these are the people who are making money raising poultry.—Poultry Gazette.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Twenty-five thousand square feet on a hill just east of Art Hill, on the World's Fair grounds have been assigned by the exposition management as a site for a demonstration station for the Marconi wireless telegraph. While the crowds are thinning out at many of the watering places, as the season draws to a close, there are now more than a hundred people at the Arcadia at Dawson Springs. The Arcadia has enjoyed a most prosperous summer business and from present indications every room will be taken until late in the fall, as letters and telegrams are being received every day for reservations. It was Landford Holeman's intention to release his Italian band about the 10th inst., but he is now thinking of retaining them indefinitely.

BASE BALL.

Hopkinsville Won First and Lost Second Game.

Paducah Boys Here For Series
and Jackson Will Be Here Next.

The Paducah team is here for a series of three games of ball with the local team. The first game was scheduled for yesterday and they will play the second game this afternoon and the third to-morrow. Jackson will be here Monday for three games with Hopkinsville. Cairo will not play here again this season. The Egyptians were scheduled to play here three days of next week, beginning Monday, but these games were cancelled, owing to the fact that Kitty season closes on Sept. 16, instead of the 29th, as planned when the schedule was prepared. This leaves only five more games at Athletic park, two with Paducah and three with Jackson. Hopkinsville won the first game here with Clarksville played Monday, and lost the second Tuesday. The second game of Tuesday's double-header was an exhibition bout, and the villagers won, the score being 12 to 6. Only seven innings were played. The first game of that day resulted in the score of 4 to 2. It proved a most interesting contest, the clubs tying up to the eighth inning. Edwards pitched a good game, but he was not at his best and eleven hits were made off him, two of them being home runs. Law, a pitcher from the University of Mississippi, did the twirling for the villagers and held Hopkinsville down to seven hits, four of which were made by Street, two by Mullen and one by Chatham. The longest drive ever seen on the home diamond was made by Engle, of the Clarksville team, who put the ball over center field and over the fence. Anderson, of the visitors, also made a home run, putting the ball over the right field fence.

The score in Monday's game was: Hopkinsville, 14; Clarksville, 9. Bomar pitched for the locals and Deaver for Clarksville. Hopkinsville made twenty hits off this celebrated Southern league twirler, five of them proving three baggers and one a home run, besides numerous two-baggers and singles. Bomar pitched an excellent game throughout. In this game Street and Collins made two-base hits, Mullen made two three-base hits, and Hoeppe, Bomar and Farris also made a two-base hit each.

Bomar struck out seven men and Deaver 4.

Large crowds attended the games both Monday and Tuesday, the crowd on Tuesday being the largest of the season.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again he school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.
